

FIRST FRIDAYS

OCCUPY VENTURA

THE BELL ARTS FACTORY

ART • PHOTOS • VIDEO • MUSIC

a reflection of the nationwide and now global popular street movement against corporate greed and for financial and economic justice.

6-10 PM

Bell Arts Factory
Janet Addison Community Room

The ambition of this exhibit is to fuel people with energy for the purpose of channeling creative efforts into creating some real, positive, meaningful and lasting change for working and disadvantaged people worldwide. It is also part of the growing artist contingent of the 99% movement.

The exhibit will include actual handmade cardboard poster signs used at the Occupy Ventura rallies and photos of those same actions. Like the movement itself, the exhibit is grassroots in nature and with emphasis on free expression. The experience of true and direct democracy and the quest of finding and giving voice for the concerns of humanity is what motivates and is at the core of this exhibit.
